

Permission to Reproduce or Modify High/Scope Educational Research Foundation Materials in Research Projects

Requests for permission to reproduce, translate, or modify all or any part of High/Scope Educational Research Foundation's copyrighted materials, including out-of-print titles, should be forwarded to the High/Scope Educational Research Foundation's Research Department prior to the time any work has begun. The requests should include information about the nature and purpose of the research study (i.e. number of subjects, design, statistical treatment, possible significance of results), thesis, report, or publication in which the desired reproduction or modification will be used. The exact description of what is to be reproduced or modified, how the reproduction or modification will be made, the quantity of reproductions to be made, and information about the distribution and/or sales of the publication in which the reproduction or modification will appear must be provided.

Include with your request full contact and university affiliation information for the principal investigator (PI). If the PI is a graduate student, also include full contact and university affiliation information for the graduate student advisor on the project. All requests must include proof that the proposed project has Institutional Review Board approval.

Permission to reproduce or modify High/Scope Educational Research Foundation materials in research projects is limited to the particular project described in the request. The requesting researcher(s) can not distribute High/Scope Educational Research Foundation materials in whole or in part to any other entity not related to the proposed work. At no time can the requesting researcher(s) sell or distribute High/Scope Educational Research Foundation proprietary materials in whole or in part.

The requesting researcher(s) must acknowledge and accept that all copyrighted materials supplied by the High/Scope Educational Research Foundation remain the property of the High/Scope Educational Research Foundation. Any modifications to High/Scope Educational Research Foundation materials as a result of this work will become the property of the High/Scope Educational Research Foundation.

The High/Scope Educational Research Foundation requires researchers to share their research results with the High/Scope Educational Research Foundation upon completing of the proposed project.

In any publications and presentations that result from this work, High/Scope Educational Research Foundation source materials must be properly and fully cited.
